

Steel, Copper, Grain, Cement - These Are All Going to Explode in Profit for Investors Savvy Enough to Put Patriotic Passions Aside and Play the China Boom Right

In the last few pages, I've spent some time outlining for you the three major reasons why China is growing so fast (manufacturing, infrastructure, a new middle class) - and why it needs heretofore-unseen-on-planet-Earth amounts of all kinds of raw materials and resource commodities, especially oil.

But again, I don't think most Americans truly comprehend what's in store - both from an investment angle and from a global oil supply-and-demand standpoint. In short, the modern rise of China will change the world oil and energy balance forever. And if the Chinese can refine and perfect their financial and banking systems, the United States could conceivably end up in second place in industrial and economic might...

And if that happens, it won't

DEMOCRACY INACTION?

A conflict brews in the White House. The United States has been searching for alternative sources of oil that don't line the pockets of nondemocratic nations. Some have even speculated that the invasions of Iraq and Afghanistan and the countries' "conversion" to democracy are at least in part driven by the Bush administration's desire to establish democratic trading partners for Middle Eastern oil...

Most oil-producing nations aren't democracies, however. Venezuela is one of the few that are democratic. And indeed, the United States has put a lot of its petroleum "eggs" in this South American nation's basket. Daily, America gets about as much oil from Venezuela as from Saudi Arabia. But if President Hugo Chavez's recent rhetoric is any indication, the United States may not be able to count on much more oil from Venezuela - especially with the Chinese market becoming ever more accessible.

take 200 years, either - but come soon. If you're an Outstanding Investments reader, you'll probably be set for life - and so will your grandchildren. If not, well...brace yourself.

According to a February Earth Policy Institute report, China has already eclipsed the United States as the world's No. 1 consumer of raw materials and growth-related commodities - last year easily surpassing American consumption of steel (by 2.5 times!), aluminum, copper, coal, fertilizers, grain, meat and just about every other commodity under the sun.

All except oil. But it won't be long before China dwarfs our consumption of crude, too - especially once this 'Ides of March' deal between China and Canada goes down. Consider:

- China imported 31% more oil in 2003 than the year before
- China has spurred 40% of global oil demand growth since 2000
- Chinese oil usage has increased 4 times over in just the last decade
- China increased its oil stockpiles 25% in the last calendar year
- The IEA estimates China's oil use will jump an incredible 15% in 2005 (U.S. consumption rose the same amount in the decade between 1994-2004)

Imagine what will happen once China becomes the dominant force in the world oil market. The United States will lose its bargaining clout with OPEC and other nations...

Gas prices will soar as suppliers set crude oil prices based on China's willingness (and ability) to overpay for oil...

The U.S. economy will stumble; goods and services will cost more; the vacation, tourism, airline and automotive industries will suffer; and taxes will increase as the United States struggles to maintain its oil-dependent defense budgets and war efforts in the Middle East...

And it's not like Uncle Sam can turn to the Earth's other major oil producers for help - China has already beaten the United States to the punch on those sources, as well. Besides, the current administration's idealistic bent toward avoiding dealings with nondemocracies handcuffs America's ability to be flexible in its pursuit of alternatives to Middle Eastern oil...

China Has Outmaneuvered the Nearsighted U.S. in Securing Future Oil From Every Major Source in the World...

Beijing has been busy. Over the last few years, it's been scurrying to line up oil deals with anyone with a gallon or two of "black gold" to spare. These are sources the United States desperately needs to keep from being at the mercy of the Middle East. You already know about China's impending swipe of the bulk of Canada's crude. But you may not have known that China now may be first in line for oil from:

AFRICA

The Chinese government has targeted Libya, Nigeria, Egypt, Sudan, Gabon and others to try to lock up a hefty chunk of Africa's future oil exports. By investing heavily in infrastructure development and extending loans and credit to the governments of underdeveloped yet oil-rich African nations, China practically ensures it'll get first crack at these nations' crude. Also, China has ratcheted up trade with Africa to help seal the deal - commerce between the two increased 50% in 2004.

It's paying off, too. Already, China's state-run Sinopec has inked a long-term deal with Gabon's government to ensure a steady flow of oil from that nation. China National Petroleum Corp. is already developing oil projects in Chad, and several Chinese oil companies have contracts in place with West Africa's key oil nations Nigeria, Equatorial Guinea and others. China is also increasing its diplomatic and economic presence in southern African nations Angola and South Africa in likely preparation for major moves toward those countries' crude reserves.

Building on the strength of recent deals that'll send millions of tons of soy and uranium China's way, Brazil's largest oil company, Petrobras, has signed on for a joint exploration of offshore oil resources with China Petrochemical Corp. The two nations signed an agreement last May to cooperate on all aspects of petroleum production: extraction, refinement, sales and transportation. State-owned Petrobras is also currently negotiating for Chinese aid in the construction of a pipeline linking northern and southern Brazil.

A rapid increase in commerce between the two nations has made China one of Brazil's top global trade allies. In November 2004, China announced an upcoming infusion of transportation and mining infrastructure investment that'll pump billions of dollars into the country's economy.

VENEZUELA

Long considered one of America's strongest allies in the effort to curb U.S. reliance on Middle Eastern oil, Venezuela has lately turned a commercial cold shoulder - not to mention some harsh rhetoric - the United States' way. In fact, according to a Feb. 20 report in the Turkish press, Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez fears assassination at U.S. hands and is threatening to cut off all oil supplies to the United States if such an attempt should take place. The fifth largest oil exporter in the world, Venezuela currently sells half its oil production to the United States, but Chavez has made it clear he wants to start diverting that flow of oil to China.

Recently, a series of 19 accords have been signed between the two nations, allowing Chinese companies greater access to 15 Venezuelan oil fields. The plans include Chinese investments in both oil and gas mining projects in the Latin American nation. These plans are serious, too. Between eruptions of anti-U.S. rhetoric, Chavez has pledged to build a pipeline through nearby Panama to more easily facilitate the shipping of oil across the Pacific to the People's Republic. State-run Chinese companies already operate two Venezuelan oil fields.

All told, China National Petroleum Corp. alone has signed 48 oil and resource investment and cooperation contracts with 20 different supplier nations. And that's just one of China's major state-owned oil players.

Bottom line: Fueling China's growth into the world's next (only) economic superpower requires cranking planet Earth's oil spigot wide open. And that spigot will soon siphon from every major source of oil in the world - including the America-hating OPEC. Short of invading Canada and seizing the Athabasca sands, there's not much the United States can do except pay through the nose for what precious crude China leaves behind - oil that China's demand has caused to skyrocket in price.

But like any global economic upheaval, there are ways you can get rich in the process, as I told you above and as you're about to discover in detail - with Outstanding Investments as your turn-key, all-encompassing guide...

With Every Commodity That Sails Eastward, the U.S. Gets Weaker. Still, There Are Ways to Turn Enormous Profits. Here's the Biggest Way Right Now: It's Called Outstanding Investments

OK, it's payoff time. Remember the "Crisis 10" stocks I was telling you about earlier? These are the ones I'm betting will not only insulate your portfolio from the disaster that awaits 99% of American investors once the China Boom takes hold - but also set the stage for you to profit beyond every investment you've ever made before.

These 10 red-hot commodities stocks include:

- An under-the-radar natural gas company that's poised to explode (not literally) once the coming $150-a-barrel oil forces us to find alternative sources of energy. We picked it less than 8 months ago, and it's already climbed a steady 40%. But wait 'til oil really starts climbing in price...

- An offshore drilling company in prime position to soar once the United States is forced by China's aggressive oil dealings to de-regulate access to valuable oil fields off the Alaskan and California coasts - it's already up 61%, and the crunch hasn't even hit yet...
- An unusual conglomerate that's a major, yet undervalued player in both the water treatment and electricity industries - both red-hot segments in times of energy and environmental challenges, like now. In just 2 years, this solidly diverse play has charged up 53%, and there's nowhere to go but up...
- A Canada-based upstream oil and gas producer that's heavily invested in oil exploration in not only its home country, but in the North Sea, Indonesia and other oil-rich locales. It's up 205% in the last 3 1/2 years, but has zoomed up more than 30% in just the last month...
- A pair of energy companies that specialize in oil sands development. They're both up impressively - gaining 157% and 211%, respectively. But once the Canadian betrayal starts sending billions of barrels of oil to China, these stocks could easily yield gains in the 3,000% range...

Not all of our "China Crisis 10" stocks are energy companies, however. Some key producers in this group service the demand for energy - or supply raw materials needed for growth. For instance, we'll show you, FREE:

- The dynamic duo of competing shipping stocks I mentioned to you a little while ago (get your FREE Special e-Report on these in just a minute). Globally, there's so much demand for resources and raw materials right now - and there will be for the foreseeable future - there's no way these companies can't skyrocket. One's up nearly 65% in just over half a year, and the other is up 5% in just two months...

- A rock-solid cement company that's riding the China boom in infrastructure construction all the way to the bank. A favorite "safe" pick of ours for the last 3 years, it has nevertheless posted a healthy profit of 53% - and the sky's the limit...
- A grain-producing company that's cashing in on China's huge appetite for refined foods. Last year, China consumed more than 30% more grain products than even the bread-and-pasta-happy USA.

In addition to these winners, Outstanding Investments has picked winning mining stocks, precious metals, mineral stocks, timber and paper securities, service companies and every other kind of commodity or growth-related investment imaginable. Our track record of picking, well, outstanding investments speaks for itself...

In the Last 3 years, We've Picked 77% Winners -
 With an Average Closed Position Gain of 81%

Outstanding Investments isn't just an energy or crude oil investment advisory. It's a global commodities and resources watchdog service that leads its readers to steady - and sometimes spectacular - gains. We've outperformed big-name guru after high-profile analyst - and beaten index after index. So much so that CBS MarketWatch named us as one of the best performing resource advisories in 2004.

But media rankings don't translate into money in your pocket. Here's what Outstanding Investments members are saying:

"It's difficult to be unhappy when all of the recommendations I hold from Outstanding Investments are up a minimum of 36%!"-Jeff B.

"Subscribing to Outstanding Investments is one of the best investment decisions I've ever made."-Wade G.

"My stock portfolio has increased 52% in eight months as a result of the insight of Outstanding Investments. I plan to be a subscriber for years to come."-Fred H.

"Congratulations on being one of the few letters out there to make real profits for investors."-Bill T.

"I'm up 28% with only your recommendations in my portfolio."-William B.

As you can see, Outstanding Investments pays off for its readers. And right now, I want you to become one of them - before the pending Canadian oil pipeline deal kicks off the coming China boom. Subscribe and you'll not only discover the 10 stocks above, but dozens more in your FREE six-volume Orient Express - to Profit library. Keep reading...

There Are Two Keys to Success in Commodities Stocks - and They're the Heart and Soul of Outstanding Investments

Governments will rise and fall - so will markets. The forces of global change will dictate demand for every known commodity. And always, there are ways to make extreme profits from these shifts, evolutions, realignments and conflicts. It takes only two things to do this:

Knowledge and dispassion.

Here at Outstanding Investments, we don't make recommendations with the political winds like the mainstream does - we analyze without prejudice, hopes or delusions of national grandeur. We anticipate which way the winds will blow based on objective analysis of fact, and then we recommend accordingly...

In other words, we practice the art of dispassion. In my experience, this is the rarest of all commodities (no pun intended) in the world of investment advice.

And our award-winning investment knowledge (not to mention our 81% average return on closed positions) stems directly from this willingness to detach from things like nationalism and emotion - this dispassion. It enables us to clearly and without bias see outrageously profitable investment opportunities where others see only the fearful harbingers of global economic change...

The question is: Can YOU be dispassionate enough to capitalize - to be a true commodities 'profiteer' like our 19,000 other members?

I hope so, because the only way to truly protect yourself from the massive global resources realignment that's coming - along with the $5 gas (or worse, rations) - is to be rich enough to afford it. The way I look at it, what better way to beat a crisis than to profit from it?

And certainly, the opportunity to do just that looms large, starting around the March 15 pipeline deal between China and Canada...

The China Boom Is Upon Us. Time Is of the Essence on This Incredible Opportunity - Which Is Why I Want to Send You Everything I've Got That Could Help You Profit RIGHT NOW

On a personal level, if I could wish away the coming oil crunch and global commodities trade battle with China, I would - if only to spare the rank-and-file American investor the anxiety of having his mainstream-recommended "patriotic" stocks lose money while he's shelling out more cash for gas, travel and manufactured goods at the same time...

But it isn't up to me. It isn't up to the president and Congress, either.

In fact, no one and nothing on Earth can stop China from challenging the United States for dominance in the world economic pecking order. It is simply too big, too strong and too many - and its workers are too cheap to compete with over the long haul. Sure, China faces some of the same challenges all nations face when exploding in growth at an out-of-control rate (like banking, currency and securities systems issues)...

And like the United States in the 1800s, it's more or less inevitable that despite these growing pains, China will rise to economic pre-eminence - and it definitely will become the world's largest consumer of not just oil, but every major critical natural resource and commodity, regardless of what it means for America...

No, you can't prevent it, but you CAN (and should) profit from it - enormously and without undue risk. All you need is the one-of-a-kind, dispassionate analysis and information in your subscription to the Outstanding Investments monthly advisory. Let me sign you up now - RISK-FREE for a full 30 days - and I'll also offer you:

- Your FREE Orient Express - to Profit library of up to 6 volumes about how to get rich on the upcoming China commodities boom (more on these Special e-mail Reports in a minute)
- FREE weekly investment updates via e-mail. Keep an eye on recommended stocks, track our portfolio, and discover the hottest opportunities that just can't wait until the next monthly issue
- FREE unlimited 24/7 access to the Outstanding Investments members-only Web site. Look up past picks, see postings from other members and read articles and breaking news about the commodities investment world

- FREE unlimited access to the Outstanding Investments 24-Hour Profit Hot Line. Get updates on market moves, industry news and hot commodities plays via phone 24/7
- A FREE subscription to Whiskey & Gunpowder, the fast-growing, twice-weekly e-dispatch featuring commentary on all the hot-button resource, economic, historic, privacy, commerce and political issues of the day.

All 10 of these additional benefits (they total up to more than $1000 in value!) are yours FREE when you join your fellow Outstanding Investments readers in commodities 'profiteering.'

But you'd better hurry. China's making resource deals so fast that it could take your portfolio by surprise if you don't act now. I know some seasoned investors who are missing the boat - and taking the losses - right now because they didn't get ahead of this boom already under way. And to make it even easier for you to join now, I'm offering you a one-time-only deal:

I'll give you two full years of Outstanding Investments (normally $318) for just $189. That's 41% off the cover price - and it's completely RISK FREE. Or if you'd prefer, sign up for one year (and still get three of the six FREE e-reports) for only $99 - still over 30% off. Go ahead, try it for a full month...

Track the stocks...

Reconcile the news you read with other sources...

Take a look at the Web site and see what other members are saying...

Even invest all you want in our current picks...

And if you're not 100% satisfied, simply cancel and get all your money back, no questions asked. Oh, and you keep your Orient Express - to Profit library - FREE.

Lots of people out there are paying as much as $100,000 per year on research to try to anticipate global resource shifts that'll help them make money in commodities stocks. Most of them fall ridiculously short of the gains Outstanding Investments readers routinely see. Like I said before, our award-winning track record speaks for itself.

But as if this weren't reason enough to sign up for Outstanding Investments, consider this: The single biggest event in commodities investment history - the China boom - is coming, make no mistake. In fact, it has begun already, and as I've just shown you, it's really going to start rolling on or about March 15 ...

If you aren't among the lucky, informed few who are making huge sums of money on it (like members of my Outstanding Investments commodities advisory are), you'll be spending huge sums of money on its effects, I promise it.

So sign up for Outstanding Investments today - before the China/Canada 'Ides of March' pipeline deal reaches the headlines and everybody's scrambling to try to make money on the upcoming boom. Of course, the vast majority of 'patriotic' American investors won't make a cent on it - and may actually lose big time...

But you'll ride the tide of this pending eastward commodities flow to incredible gains - if you act now.

Dispassionately yours,

FREE e-Report #1: Security & Profits: The Richest Oil Opportunity in North America

In the wilderness of northern Alberta, Canada, sits a vast, 25,000-square-mile expanse of "oil sands" estimated to contain over 300 billion barrels of crude - more oil than Saudi Arabia. Until recently, however, extraction of this precious petroleum from the rich black clay and muck along the banks of several of Alberta's rivers has proved too costly to be practical...

But almost simultaneously, new advances in extraction technology and the rise of oil prices above $50 a barrel have made these sands a crude oil target for the entire world. With China and the United States vying for the lion's share of the flow of crude from the region, the Canadian company that controls this world's largest oil reserve is set to positively explode - especially after the impending China/Canada pipeline deal infuses a billion dollars or so of Chinese money into the site. This report will help you be one of the savvy few investors (Outstanding Investments' readers) poised to make 1,000% or more on this one stock by the end of the decade...

FREE e-Report #2: The No-Sweat Strategy for Profiting From the Coming Oil & Gas Boom

Thirty years ago, 15 major oil fields worldwide were pumping out over a million barrels of oil per day. Today, only two of these fields can maintain that kind of production - and not for much longer, if the latest geologic data are any indication. The other 13 can only manage to squeeze out about 300,000 barrels per day - nowhere near enough to sustain demand from the United States, Europe, Russia, plus up-and-coming mega-consumers China and India...

With OPEC struggling to meet production estimates (some evidence suggests it has grossly overstated its oil reserves), oil companies are searching for ways to increase their available sources of crude. That's why stock in one under-the-radar company is so attractive to commodities investors in the know: The company has proven itself an industry leader at sniffing out new fields of oil and are engineering ingenious and cost-effective ways of recovering it. And with China locking up a huge percentage of the future flow of crude from the Athabasca sands, this firm's stock is set to soar. Returns of five, six, even 10 times your money aren't unrealistic. Get all the details in this comprehensive Outstanding Investments Special Report...

FREE e-Report #3: Riding the Liquid Natural Gas Boom to Triple Your Money

source of energy that's on everyone's radar: liquid natural gas (LNG). With oil becoming both more scarce and more expensive - and with the end of world oil supplies in sight - LNG is set to take center stage as world energy technology shifts its focus from oil recovery to the extraction, containment and transportation of this clean and abundant new energy source.

And with China quickly rushing to try to monopolize most of the crude oil deposits remaining on planet Earth (not just Canada, but Africa, Russia, Venezuela and Iran), LNG is likely to become America's "savior" energy source. In this brand-new report only for Outstanding Investments readers, discover the one overlooked company that's poised to outshine all others in the LNG sector - taking your portfolio with it! The triple-digit profits this guide's title promises are really only the most conservative estimate of what this stock could do...

But sign up for the best-value (save 41%!) RISK-FREE two-year subscription to Outstanding Investments, and you'll get three more Special Reports tailor made to keep you making money hand over fist - while other investors are losing their shirts on the coming China-fueled energy crunch

FREE e-Report #4: Two $5 Resource Stocks That Will Take off in Uncertain Times

The signs are everywhere: Uncertain times are ahead - especially for the commodities investor who's not an Outstanding Investments reader. But this Special Report outlines two totally diverse stock plays that help lend both stability and profit to the China Boom era's uncertain investment outlook. One's a grossly undervalued company (it trades at around $3.50 a share) that controls the rights to a gold reserve that could be as large as 3.5 million ounces - over $1.5 billion worth!

The other's a sound and sleek player in an up-and-coming resource commodity that's soon to be on everyone's "buy" list. As this commodity takes off (China will need tons of it), so will this company's less-than-$4-a-share stock. Its primary business is to produce this resource, and it has pioneered enterprising ways to keep costs down that its competitors haven't (or can't) implement - especially important because this material currently has one of the largest production/demand imbalances in the world. Discover them both in this new Special Report only for two-year subscribers to Outstanding Investments ...

FREE e-Report #5: Two If by Sea: Shipping Stocks That'll Sail on the China Boom

Every commodity that's made, mined or refined has got to get to where it's going before it can be used. That means it gets loaded onto planes, trains, trucks - and especially ships. But not all cargo ships are created equal - nor are all shipping companies. New, more strict shipping regulations at several of the world's key canals and ports of call are forcing major shippers to update their aging fleets to the newest double-hulled tankers. This is a five-year proposition at best...

Meanwhile, a pair of competing shipping companies specializing in crude oil are already outfitted with the latest in state-of-the-art double-hull vessels - and they're positioned to ship the lion's share of the worldwide oil trade with China, especially the Canadian crude. Right now, they're absurdly low priced, yet growing steadily in profit. Stock in one of these companies is up 63% in just the last nine months.

Imagine what it will do in just the coming year, when China ramps up oil consumption from Venezuela, Africa, Canada and other sources half a world away. Get all the details in the hot-off-the-presses Special Report...

FREE e-Report #6 : A Secret World of Wealth-Building:
Grow Rich With Natural Resources
