

URGENT INVESTMENT ALERT:

These 10 Companies Could Single-Handedly Secure America's Homeland... and Make You 1,275% - No Matter Who's Elected President

Dear Friend,

With the war efforts in Iraq looking like they'll continue for months (if not years), there'll be an increased demand for stocks providing any type of support, technology, or infrastructure to our military or defense systems.

The opportunities going forward will be just as good - if not better - no matter which way the market goes... up, down, or sideways.

Right now, the same supply/demand disequilibrium I just showed you in Taser will soon be exhibited in other small, undiscovered defense and security stocks.

Today, you'll learn about ten new Homeland Security "squeeze play" candidates that stand to cleanse the earth of American-hating terrorists.

81% of Americans Support Increased Defense Spending

In a recent poll that asked, "Is the federal government spending too much money on security?"
- 81% of Americans responded,
"No, they need to spend more."

"Terrorists Will Try to Bomb Trains and Buses in Major US Cities this Summer"

-US Department of Defense

You watch the evening news, so I don't have to tell you that the Iraq situation is getting worse and worse each day.

"Squeeze Play" in Action

Here's how a "squeeze play" works. Obviously, large-cap companies are the most liquid stocks on the market. They have a high volume of daily trades, demand from both individual and institutional investors, and since they've split so many times, they offer a greater number of shares available to trade. In other words, the market is so flooded with shares of large-cap stocks, the supply/demand equations is always in relative balance. That's why you rarely see large-cap stocks going up 10%, 15%, or even 35% in one day.

Small-cap and microcap stocks, on the other hand, have comparatively fewer shares available for trading. For small-cap stocks, a daily trading volume of 55,000 to 125,000 shares is an active day. (To keep this in perspective, consider that tens of millions of Microsoft shares may trade on any given day.) This smaller number of available shares amplifies the stock's up-move when the supply/demand equations get out of balance. If you can identify the stocks that will witness a boom in demand with a limited supply of shares on the market, get ready for a blastoff. And I'm not talking about 100%, 200%, or even a 500% gain. I'm talking about 1,000%, 4,000%, even 6,000% gains - very quickly.

It's a phenomenon called the "Squeeze Play." When three specific market factors - taken together - cause demand to outweigh supply, a true-life feeding frenzy starts... literally "squeezing" share prices up 5x, 10x, even 60x in a matter of months.

Sadly, April 2004 was the bloodiest month to date in Iraq, with 134 of our soldiers killed. Combine that with the train bombing in Spain that killed 190 civilians and injured around 1,500, the horrific murder and mutilation of US contract workers in Iraq, and the gruesome beheading of American Nick Berg and other civilian workers - and the US government isn't taking any chances.

Experts in the fields of technology, science and defense recently met in Washington, D.C., to forecast the most significant new technologies to be ready for use by the year 2012.

In this meeting, the very best security companies in the world were chosen to develop antiterrorist technologies to prevent the deaths of thousands of innocent Americans.

That means a number of new "squeeze plays" will soon surface - due to the disequilibrium in supply/demand that'll soon be exhibited when investors rush to buy stock in these defense and security companies.

Right now, before this rush happens, you have the opportunity to get positioned in a whole new breed of "squeeze play" candidates that represent the top homeland security stocks on the market today.

We've profiled all these "squeeze play" candidates in a new report called "Homeland Security Winners."

When these new technologies are unveiled, perhaps just weeks from now, the war on terrorism will turn in our favor. Getting in early on these companies is like getting in on the ground floor of companies like Boeing or General Electric - well before they became household names.

You'll get an advance look at these companies today...

145 Major American Cities Spending $70 Million Per Week on Homeland Security

It's Been a Beautiful Ride:

"Thanks for TASR - it's been a beautiful ride - I've been watching it since it was at $23, finally caved and bought it at $32. Then I sold it back at $54, wanted to kick myself and bought it back at $62. You're the BOMB! Thanks and keep 'em coming!"

-Tainan member Orly V

According to a new 145-city survey by US Government Technology (a publication that constantly monitors the spending patterns of the US Government), cities nationwide are likely spending about $70 million per week on additional homeland security measures due to the war in Iraq and the national state of high alert.

And this increased spending is not just a government initiative. In a recent study, eight out of ten Americans support increased homeland security spending.

That's why it's essential for you to have our new "Homeland Security Winners" in your portfolio.

This kind of homeland security investing is especially appropriate considering the current market conditions. The stock market as a whole is unlikely to go much of anywhere for the next several years, as rising interest rates make it next to impossible for the broad market to move higher.

But these homeland security stocks are not correlated to the market. They trade higher according to government funding and the American public's demand for their technology. Find the right company and you can make tremendous returns no matter what happens to the stock market as a whole (just look at our results in Taser - up 1,500%+ in less than 16 months).

In this letter, I'll show you exactly how to find these winning stocks I'm following right now. Each stock has the potential to go up 1,275% in the next 12 months. Each stock trades for less than $20 today - even though they could soon be $70, $90, even $200 stocks.

With ten opportunities for you to follow, there's a very good chance that several of these stocks will boom this year, making some investors millions. It is, without a doubt, the best situation I've ever seen - even better than Taser (much less risk).

I'll tell you all about these opportunities in this letter...

An Incubator for Homeland Security Technology

One of the critical aspects of identifying "squeeze plays" is analyzing each stock's sector ranking. Since as much as 80% of a stock's price movement is related to its sector growth, you need stocks positioned in the next explosive growth sectors.

HOMELAND SECURITY IS THE NEXT MEGA-TREND. And it's crucial for you to understand that it's still in the infancy stages of growth. Five years from now, the homeland security sector could prove to be bigger than the dot-com explosion, bigger than the human genome boom, bigger than the personal computer boom, and perhaps even bigger than the cell phone boom.

When you discover the implications of this upcoming mega-trend in our Homeland Security Winners report, you'll learn about all the aspects of defense and security that you've never even considered, like:

Information and Intelligence Management: As computers become more accessible, powerful and easy to use, military commanders will have information precisely when and where they need it, transforming their troops into "knowledge warriors," making them more aware of their surroundings with the aid of integrated sensors and reliable network connections.

Renewable Sources of Energy: Problems associated with powering and fueling today's military will be a distant memory as fuel cells and other alternative energy sources become available. In fact, fuel cells for tanks (the size of a disposable lighter) could provide soldiers ten times the energy life of the average battery - and eliminating US dependence on oil imports into the bargain.

Non-Lethal Weapons: Research is under way to develop weapons that will temporarily incapacitate or stun rather than wound or kill. Weapons such as non-penetrating bullets, electrical shocks and radio waves will aim to achieve the highest level of success with the least amount of violence. Efforts are also under way to fine-tune the accuracy of weapons and reduce damage to unintended targets.

Advanced Detection and Tracking Systems: By 2012, non-invasive detectors for biological, chemical and other weapons will be as reliable and easy to use as the X-ray machines or metal detectors of today. A new generation of homing devices, cameras, radio frequency identification devices and global positioning satellite (GPS) systems will track weapons and other dangerous materials.

Universal Inoculation: The next decade will usher in the practice of administering one small inoculation that will protect people from multiple pathogens like smallpox or ricin. Advanced understanding of bacteria and viruses will help protect the health of the nation.

The Global Cyber-Net: Soon, a global cyber-network with a capacity 100 to 1,000 times larger than the World Wide Web will be created as a self-healing organic system. Software will no longer be surrounded by security code, but instead it will have such features embedded inside it.

Individual Warning Devices: Warning individuals will be just as important as warning large groups in the future, as sensors that are able to detect unhealthy air, water and food will become available to homes, businesses, and on the battlefield.

Safe Buildings: As we saw in the anthrax attacks of 2001, bacteria and airborne pathogens are a means of attack for a terrorist or possibly in combat. New flow designs, integrated sensors, filtration methods and automated response mechanisms will improve the quality of indoor air and water, and filters are expected to be supplemented with other devices to detect and eliminate bacteria and viruses before they can harm us.

Advance Multi-Functional Materials: The soldier of 2012 will be able to blend into his surroundings because of color-changing fibers and individualized camouflage capabilities. Body armor protection will not only be stronger but more lightweight as well. Plus, with the aid of remote physiological status monitoring, commanders will know, second by second, the health conditions of their soldiers.

More Explosive Than Taser

Using the same screening methods that allowed us to discover Taser, we've uncovered ten new stocks that'll soon witness the same explosive gains.

Their floats are small, the companies are young and growing, analysts don't know about them, they have high relative strength readings, and they're all in the red-hot field of high-tech homeland security... exactly the situation that Taser was in one year ago.

Invest today, and you'll witness profits as good as Taser, even better, in the weeks or months that follow. Remember, a $2,000 investment in Taser one year ago would be worth $120,000 today.

These ten companies offer similar riches.

In fact, by my estimate, each stock could quickly increase 1,275% from its current price... no matter who's elected President in November. That means a $5,000 investment in each company could turn into $63,750 in a matter of weeks.

What are some of the most promising homeland security stocks? Here are three that could make you 10x, 20x, even 50x your money when their "squeeze plays" take effect...

Securing Our Nation's Borders = Guaranteed Demand

Unbeknownst to most investors, foreigners crossing our borders are now mandated to carry a secure identity card (no bigger than a credit card) capable of storing vast amounts of automatically verifiable biometric information.

Legislation called the "Border Security Act" means that the demand for these high-tech biometric cards is guaranteed.

This small California company develops the optical data storage products for these highly advanced cards - and they're on to something big. With sales of approximately 7.3 million cards during the fiscal year that ended March 31, 2003, these cards are currently used for:

- ➡ United States Permanent Resident Card (Green Card)
- ➡ United States Department of State Border Crossing Card (BCC)
- ➡ United States Department of Defense Automated Manifest System Card

Since the US government likes how the cards perform, I'm betting it won't be long before the potential applications of this technology reach far beyond border control. In fact, trial programs within the US government involving medical record cards, permit cards, and vehicle registration cards are already in process.

In this testing process alone, over 20 million cards were sold. (Remember, 7.3 million were sold in all of last year. If the "testing" process alone has sold 20 million cards, just imagine how many could sell if the tests prove successful!)

Without a doubt, the demand for these cards will continue skyrocketing. And remember, that's just the demand here in the US!

The Canadian government began issuing optical memory cards in 2002 as the new Canadian Permanent Resident Card. Italy has bought cards as well. Soon, these cards could be in the pockets, purses, and wallets of every man, woman, and child in America!

This $16.00 stock is one governmental contract away from seeing its market cap triple... igniting a "squeeze play" like never before.

But that's just one of the ten companies you'll learn about today...

Anthrax-Detection Systems in Every Building in America

The US government is testing another small California company's device - based on NASA space technology - that's supposed to detect trace amounts of anthrax better than Northrop Grumman's anthrax detection system.

Company spokesman say one of their machines (priced at $45,000 each) could monitor the air in a building the size of the Four Seasons Hotel in Beverly Hills.

If this company - which is up fourfold over the course of the last year but STILL trades for just $1.00 - clinches a contract with the US government (which it's looking like

Innovative Technologies Are Clearly Needed

"We will see a transformation of American security and defense over the next ten years. Innovative technologies are clearly needed it will), the inevitable "squeeze play" could send shares up to $10... $20... even $40 in a matter of months.

Those who are holding shares of this $1.00 stock are not only doing their part to rid the world of terrorism, but they're also, in essence, holding a winning lottery ticket.

But that's not even the most promising stock of the bunch...

Donald Rumsfeld's $11 Billion Bailout

This top-secret Australian company (which trades on the NASDAQ) could soon introduce new weaponry that'll replace all small arms throughout the Western alliance.

They just displayed a new ballistic technology that can fire an astonishing 1 million rounds per minute from a 36-barrel weapon...with NO MOVING PARTS. That means no separate magazine, no ammunition feed, no ejection system.

In comparison, the fastest weapons today fire 6,000 rounds per minute.

Upon witnessing this company's display, Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld immediately cancelled the $11 billion Crusader artillery system... rendering it obsolete.

The best part is, this company's firing technology can be used in combination with unmanned aircraft. The US government wants to develop these capabilities for use in Iraq. Boeing alone hopes to receive orders for hundreds of planes... which cost $10 million to $15 million each.

With a management team that includes a retired Joint Chiefs of Staff general and former manager of Boeing's helicopter division, this company (and its 51 technology patents) has inside connections to big-ticket procurement contracts and technology licensing agreements with the Pentagon.

This company could be the future of infantry weapons. It's another opportunity for a 1,000% gain this year.

Guaranteed Media Exposure

Just think of the exposure these stocks will create when the public finally understands that their technology could help put an end to terrorism by...

- Using biometric cards to keep constant tabs on anyone entering our country...
- Creating devices that instantly detect trace amounts of anthrax...
- Unveiling technology that can create a pilotless aircraft with the ability to fire 1 million rounds per minute with no moving parts!

The combined share value of these three stocks is $21.00 ($16.00 for the biometric cards, $1.00 for anthrax detection, and $5.00 for the ballistic weapons). This valuation simply can't last long... and it won't.

When the media catches on to these companies, shares will simply ignite. Comparisons to Taser will quickly be made. Quite frankly, there is no calculating how high these stocks could go.

The "buzz" created when investors realize what you have just learned could help you collect the payoff of a lifetime. Yet most folks on Wall Street are still unaware of these companies!

When these new cutting-edge technologies are unveiled to the public eye, it's just a matter of time before the national media seizes on what's happening here... and turns these unknown companies into household names.

Before long, everyone wishing to protect our homeland (and his portfolio) will be demanding these new technologies. That will spark interest in the stock by investors all over the world.

Then millions of individual investors - and their fund managers - will begin shoveling money into the stocks. Early investors stand to make a fortune.

If you missed out on the unbelievable profits of the computer and Internet revolution... or the biotech revolution... or the semiconductor revolution... you now have another chance.

It's situations like these - when you're buying into groundbreaking new innovations before they become popularized - that offer you the opportunity to make staggering amounts of money.

Add the media coverage of both the Iraqi war and the upcoming Presidential election in November, and you can see why a 1,275% gain on all three stocks is not only realistic... but virtually guaranteed. Act now, and you stand to make a windfall.

And remember, that's just three of the homeland security "squeeze plays" we've identified. In a moment, I'll tell you about even more. Before I do, please allow me to introduce myself...

Our Recommendations Will Outperform the Market by 100%... Guaranteed

My name is J. Christoph Amberger. For the last seventeen years I've managed the Taipan Group, an incubator for bright Taipan's 1999 overall gains:

young investment strategists.

83%

Our goal: Outperform the market by 100% every year.

Your Own Team of Investing Experts

As our five-year track record shows, my "All-Star" group of experts allows you to make money... no matter whether the markets are up, down, or flat. Let me briefly explain what my panel of experts has to offer you:

Bryan Bottarelli and Adam Lass: Taipan's Trading and Market Forecasting Experts.

Using their proprietary "WaveStrength" forecasting system, Bryan and Adam have averaged an amazing 20% gain on the 391 trades they've issued. Their whole market strategy is to make quick profits, whether the NASDAQ, DOW, and S&P are headed up or down. Bryan and Adam's 2003 average gains: 218.29%.

Christian DeHaemer: Taipan's Nanotech/Emerging Markets Expert.

Chris was so red-hot in 2003, he could have TRIPLED your money in one year - with 90% of it in a safe CD! His 95% win rate was the best ever for Taipan. In 43 total picks, Chris had only two losers. Christian DeHaemer's 2003 average gains: 110.44%.

Siu-Yee Ng: Taipan's International Markets/IPO Expert.

In 2002 and 2003, Siu Yee had an 82% average gain... without a single loser. What's more, she did it all with stocks - no options. This winning streak included 11 winners in a row. Siu-Yee Ng's 2003 average gains: 106.17%.

Brian Hicks and Brad Colburn: Taipan's Microcap/Biotech/Small-Cap/Emerging Technology Experts.

Using a system for detecting insider trading, Brian and Brad's Volume Spike Indicator has picked 31 winners out of 38 recommendations in the last year. That's an astounding 81.6% success rate! Brian and Brad's 2003 average gains: 72.41%.

Brit Ryle: Taipan's Widely-Held Stock/Bond and Currency Expert.

Playing in and out of today's favorite "cult stocks" like Netflix, Gilead Sciences, and Research in Motion, you could have turned $10,000 into $850,705 in one year following Brit's advice. Or played it safe and "only" doubled your money. Brit Ryle's 2003 average gains: 63.43%.

Ian Cooper: Taipan's News-Driven Stock Expert.

With his background as an ex-news reporter, Ian uses a secret for getting news before anyone else to deliver gains of 41% per week. Just imagine getting the CNBC news feed hours ahead of everyone else... or getting tomorrow's Wall Street Journal today. That's the secret behind Ian's astounding track record - 24 straight winners during a 20-week period this year. Since he gets press releases at the same time as Reuters or CNN, Ian has his readers into the right stocks well before the news is regurgitated on TV. Ian's 2003 average gains: 8.03%.

Put it all together, and Taipan's overall average gain for 2003 was an impressive 87.94%.

But here's what's important...

Elite Subscribers Pay $15,000 a Year for Their Advice

Each of my editors puts out an exclusive email/fax advisory service. Subscribers gladly pay up to $2,500 a year for each subscription. If you wanted to get all their services, you'd have to write a check for more than $15,000 - and there's a waiting list to get in.

After all, what would you expect to pay for research that consistently outperforms the market - and that could make 60 times what you can expect to get from traditional stocks... with less risk?

Normally, even special reports like Homeland Security Winners sell for $1,000. I think that's a very fair price considering 1) the time and effort we put into this work and 2) the fact that you receive ten new, profitable investment recommendations.

But if you subscribe with this introductory offer, you'll save considerably.

All you need to do is sign up for a one-year subscription to our Taipan newsletter for a total cost of $59.00 per year... and I'll give you the Homeland Security Winners report for FREE.

One year of our work includes:

1. 12 issues of our Taipan investment advisory newsletter. On the third Friday of every month, you'll get my full report on the best ways to make money without taking big risks. You'll get this research by email and regular mail.
2. Investment Report #1: Homeland Security Winners - This report tells you about ten homeland security stocks that could soon witness explosive "squeeze plays" - sending their share prices up as much as 6,000% in a year's time. This special report explains the full details on how to easily and safely invest in today's top homeland security stocks well before anyone else catches on to them. You can make an investment in one... two... or even all of them with just one call to your broker. In fact, you can get started with less than $100... and I predict this trade will beat regular stocks tenfold by the end of 2004.
3. In addition, you'll get my email updates every weekday afternoon, plus updates from our other research staffers several times per week... all at no extra charge.

How to Make Money This Year While Others Are Losing

I'm not going to try to tell you that I know exactly what's going to happen in the markets in the next six months. The truth is, no one knows. But I DO KNOW two things:

1. The world will only continue to get more and more dangerous. A new research project known as Matrix (short for Multistate Anti-Terrorism Information Exchange) did a nationwide study to give investigators fast access to information on crime and terrorism suspects. It was launched in 2002 - and concluded that 120,000 people currently living in America show a statistical likelihood of being terrorists.
2. Over the past 14 years, our Taipan advisory has made recommendations that have helped thousands of people not only avoid losing money, but actually make very good profits - even during the worst bear markets.

The way I look at it, you have two choices for the coming year.

- You can either stand by and do nothing, and possibly let these terrorist killers jeopardize your safety, your family, your savings, US stocks, and other US dollar investments...

- OR -

- You can make a simple investment in Homeland Security Winners and earn some of the easiest money you've ever made in your investing career. It's easier and safer to do than it's ever been in the past 100 years.

Imagine how smart you're going to feel a year from now when you look at your portfolio and see incredible gains... while all your friends and neighbors are at the mercy of the volatile stock market.

The dollar's weakness won't hurt you. Neither will the job market... or the increases at the gas pumps. Because when the prices of these unknown homeland security companies go up, so will your bank account, in a big way.

I'm not interested in dividends or slow-moving growth. Instead, I'm looking to uncover the fastest-growing antiterrorism companies in America.

Not only do I want companies that'll cleanse the earth of terrorist scum, I want stocks that will double, triple or quadruple in the coming months. I use a loss-limiting strategy that actually makes these investments LESS RISKY than buying and holding blue-chip stocks.

You'll learn about our Homeland Security Winners before they become household names... before Wall Street analysts start buying. Once Wall Street gets in and drives the price through the roof, that's when you'll take your profits!

Each Taipan Issue Reveals Companies Ready to Explode in Profit Potential

Each month, the Taipan team will send you our newsletter (via the mail or Internet) detailing the newest recommendations from my group of experts. You'll learn all about new companies, where to buy them, how much to pay, and how much you stand to make in the next 6 to 12 months.

To keep you constantly updated on each and every recommendation, you'll also get a daily e-letter called the "247profits e-Dispatch." This daily communiqué will update you on all your current holdings, summarize any important news items about your positions, and even give you an early heads-up on any new companies we're recommending.

You can hold these stocks for a year. Or five years. Or twenty. Pass them on to your kids if you wish. The point is, you'll be investing in that special breed of companies that'll drive the next bull market.

And - because we'll be getting in on great companies when they are still very small - you have the potential to make amazing returns.

So what are the best opportunities right now? Here are two more that could easily make you 10, 20, or even 100 times your money over the course of the next year...

- ➡ Homeland Security Stock #4: This small company develops products, systems and services designed to protect our harbors, ports, nuclear and chemical facilities, petroleum supply chains and other mission-critical infrastructure assets from terrorist and security threats. The "buzz" created by identity theft could be enough to push these shares 200% higher in the next few days.
- ➡ Homeland Security Stock #5: This company is the leading developer of a new "Global Command Center," which could quickly become the next generation in computer management. For example, imagine you're the CEO of a global blue-chip company - and your computer's firewall (or defense shield) in Africa doesn't have certain policies configured correctly. Sounds like a big problem, right? With this technology, your computer administrator can solve this problem simply by dragging and dropping the configurations from the US firewall to the firewall in Africa... for an immediate fix. Amazing.

If you're the type of investor who could benefit from this information, then join Taipan and you'll immediately get the full details on these two companies as well.

Although nothing is a sure thing, I'm confident our winning trend will continue. But you don't have to take my word for it, because I'm going to give you a performance guarantee.

TAIPAN PERFORMANCE GUARANTEE:

If our recommendations don't outperform the market by 100% this year, you'll receive a full refund. No questions asked.

Yes, it's a gutsy offer. But considering our history of success, I'm confident we can deliver... especially with the Homeland Security Winners in your portfolio.

There's something else you should know about Taipan...

We're limiting the initial print run on this special report to 500. Don't get me wrong - I'm not trying to pressure you into a quick decision. Nor am I saying this number won't expand in the future.

The reasoning is simple: Limiting the number of copies ensures that every paid subscriber can get in and out of these investments at the best possible price.

These companies are small. There are not endless shares to go around. We don't want so many investors involved that we create an artificial "squeeze play" just by ourselves. We prefer to get you in and let the natural market forces push shares higher. Limiting the print run ensures that our group is small and the profits opportunities are plentiful.

How do you get started with this research service? Here's how it works...

Act Now, or Miss This Limited-Time Membership

When you sign up for Taipan, you will immediately get the full details on the ten companies that could each make you 1,275% putting an end to terrorism once and for all.

Plus, you'll also receive one year of potentially profit-producing research - including monthly Taipan newsletters, special profit reports, and even a daily portfolio update email... all for just $59.00 a year. That's less than $0.22 a day to get in on today's best homeland security stocks.

Remember, a $2,000 investment in Dell and Microsoft in 1990 would be worth $1,250,000 today. The Homeland Security Winners I want to share with you have that kind of potential payoff. Let me help you make those returns. Sign up for Taipan right now while spots are still available.

As I mentioned earlier, the number of people who'll receive this report is limited. So if you want to get in on these new companies that promise to put an end to terrorism, I'll need you to send in your reservation form right now.

I believe the spots will fill up quickly, and I can't guarantee more spots will be made available later down the line. Nor can I guarantee the price will remain the same. So if you want the chance to profit from today's top homeland security "squeeze plays," I encourage you to consider this invitation carefully, but promptly.

P.S. Less than 100 days before the start of the Summer Olympics, three bombs exploded outside a police station in Greece - causing security forces to go on high alert amid fears that the 2004 Olympics (the first summer games since the attacks on the United States) could be targeted by militants. Since Greece has a record $1.22 billion security plan for the games, the worldwide attention can only increase the exposure for all of the companies you'll learn about today. Please don't let this opportunity pass you by.

P.P.S. The horrific beheading of a US citizen in Iraq proves that terrorists will stop at nothing to harm Americans. Please don't let these killers jeopardize your safety, your family, and your portfolio. Use our Homeland Security Winners report to protect yourself in these frightening and uncertain times.
