The Post-election Dollar Drop...

The Ugliest Trend Of the Last 61 Years Could Make You 19 Times Richer in 2005

If someone offered you a bond that pays zero interest, has zero collateral, lost 22% of its value in the last three years and is down 93% in the last 61 years... would you be interested?

And what if they told you the group behind the bond is adding billions in unproductive debt to its balance sheet at a record pace...

Would you care to buy in now?

If you're shaking your head 'no,' I'd agree with you. But I have some bad news...

You already own it.

In fact, if you're like millions of other Americans, the bulk of your investments, your life savings and your assets are tied up with it.

Like an iron chain to a two-ton anchor.

I'm talking about the US dollar.

The US dollar is the most widely held financial asset in the world. But it is also the most dangerously overvalued asset in the world.

In this letter, I'll show you why that's the case.
And I'll show you how you can use that knowledge to make up to 1,794% in 2005.

Dear Reader:

If you think the dollar's fall is only a concern for currency traders and tour operators, think again...

- ▶ Dollar devaluation in the '30s coincided with the biggest bear market in history.
- ▶ After the U.S. went off the gold standard in the '70s, a 10-year bear market followed.
- ▶ The Crash of '87 was preceded by a 35% devaluation of the dollar against major currencies in the previous 18 months.
- ▶ The current fall of the dollar (which began three years ago) has already coincided with the biggest U.S. stock market crash since 1929.

History shows that when the dollar falls in a serious way, it never falls alone. It takes down the value of other assets that have also been severely inflated.

In this letter, you'll learn why the Dollar Dive of '05 could be its steepest drop in 20 years. You'll see how this will affect the value of everything you own - from stocks and bonds to real estate - in a dramatic way.

But you'll also learn something else.

You'll learn that, as the dollar falls, by definition, other things must rise. And that's where some incredible profit opportunities arise...

Specifically, you'll see how one group of investors has already used 'the world's ugliest financial trend' to post gains like...

- Nine triple-digit winners on rock-solid gold shares, including gains of 85%, 114%, 117%, 122%, 128%, 188% and 177%, while the S&P and NASDAQ plummeted
- 353% returns in the last 22 months, from a 106-year-old, super profitable company that went public just months before our recommendation (and selling at a reasonable price to earnings - unlike most IPOs these days!)
- Gains of 47% and 54% from emerging markets that soared while the U.S. market sank
- Gains of 101%, 91% and 117% from stocks rising on the explosion in commodities prices
- 29% returns on 'safe money' investments
- 177% from an undervalued and overlooked maker of top-quality audio and video equipment
- Plus special investments that have multiplied nearly eight and nineteen-fold in 10 to 22 months following our original recommendations!

I'll give you the details of all these investments in a moment. But here's the part that may interest you most...

In 2005, you could have at least 35 opportunities to make the same kind of gains, with limited risk and virtually unlimited upside.

Let me show you how. And let me begin by drawing you a very simple, yet very revealing picture...

The U.S. Dollar: The Most Widely Held And Most Dangerously Overvalued Asset in the World

If someone offered you a bond that pays zero interest, has zero collateral, lost 22% of its value in the last three years and is down 93% in the last 61 years... would you be interested?

And what if they told you the group behind the bond is adding billions in unproductive debt to its balance sheet at a record pace...

Would you care to buy in now?

If you're shaking your head 'no,' I'd agree with you. But I have some bad news...

You already own it.

In fact, if you're like millions of other Americans, the bulk of your investments, your life savings and your assets are tied up with it. Like an iron chain to a two-ton anchor.

I'm talking about the U.S. dollar, of course.

The U.S. dollar is the most widely held financial asset in the world. But it is also the most dangerously overvalued asset in the world. And as it continues to revert to its true value in 2005, it will present some remarkable profit opportunities.

How to Profit from the World's Ugliest Trend

The steep, downward chart on the 1st page of this letter shows the purchasing power of the U.S. dollar since 1933.

It begins in 1933 because that was when President Roosevelt passed a series of laws restricting the ownership of gold, and forced people to turn in their gold to the Fed in exchange for paper currency. The following year, he also devalued the dollar 41% by changing the official price of gold from $20.67 to $35 an ounce.

In 1971, Richard Nixon finished the job. He de-linked the dollar from gold entirely. This was followed by massive inflation in the late '70s and early '80s, devaluing the dollar even more.

Today, as the chart shows, the dollar buys about 7% of what it could buy in 1933. But don't imagine the downward trend of the dollar is finally over - not by a long shot. In fact, the dollar's decline is only gaining momentum.

Why the World's 'Reserve Currency' Is Barely Worth the Paper It's Printed On

The U.S. dollar is no longer backed by gold or silver or anything else for that matter. The only thing backing it today is the 'full faith and credit' of the U.S. government.

Yet that government now has over $7.4 trillion in outstanding debt (!) ... trillions more in 'off-balance sheet' obligations (like Social Security and Medicare)... and it's adding to its unproductive debt at the rate of more than $1 billion a day!

At the same time, foreign central banks and investors have kept the dollar afloat over the last few years by buying nearly a quarter of the national debt! But the latest reports show foreigners are now selling U.S. government bonds.

As foreigners see a U.S. twin deficit (fiscal and trade) climbing over the $1 trillion mark a year... and national debt on track to hit $10 trillion in the next two years... their appetite for dollars (and dollar debt) is disappearing. And this is putting heavy downward pressure on the dollar.

'The downward trend in capital coming to the United States is nevertheless worrying, some economists argue, with particular implications for U.S. government debt.' - Washington Post, October 19, 2004

The next major down leg of the dollar, in fact, has already begun. In the last three years, it's down 32% against the euro, 25% against the pound, 33% against the Swiss franc, and 23%, 34% and 44% against the Canadian, Australian and New Zealand Dollars, respectively.

But it's not all bad news...

The Flipside of Devaluation: When the Dollar Falls, Other Assets Rise Here's How to Turn That Knowledge into Massive Profits

I'd like you to think for a moment about what the debasement of a currency really means in practical terms.

In the world of foreign exchange, of course, it means the dollar buys less of certain foreign currencies - from Swiss francs to Japanese yen. But it also means much more than that in our every day lives. It already affects us at the gas pump, in the surge of construction materials and the spike in housing prices.

In just the last three years or less...

- The dollar has 'devalued' 54% against oil, as oil prices have surged 120%.
- The dollar is down 50% against steel.
- It has fallen 36% against gold, 38% against silver and 48% against palladium - as precious metals have soared in dollar terms.
- In base metals, the dollar has sunk 30% against aluminum and 53% against copper.
- In agriculture, it's down 31% against cattle and 48% against pork bellies.
- It buys 38% less milk and 56% less rice - all within the last three years.
- Its purchasing power has fallen 35% against lumber and a whopping 69% versus natural gas!

This means that - over the last 3-4 years - even while the dollar and U.S. stocks nosedived, you could have made tremendous profits by the right investments in asset classes that are rising as the dollar falls.

In fact, you still can.

Major new lows are still ahead for the dollar. In fact, the dollar fall in 2005 should be its largest 12-month fall in 20 years.

Here's why...

Washington Wants a Lower Dollar - and They'll Get It!

The Bush Administration actually wants a weak dollar - to help reverse the mammoth trade deficit. Washington right now is just 'talking tough' on the dollar to try to prevent a wholesale panic selling of the dollar. But they're actually letting the dollar slide.

'Bush Policy: Talk a Strong Dollar But Let It
Slide

'Tacitly Approved,
Decline In Currency
Aids Trade Gap While
U.S. Works on Yuan

'The Bush administration, which officially professes a 'strong dollar' policy, is quietly acceding to the dollar's slide on global currency markets.'

- The Wall Street
Journal,
November 10, 2004

Bush's economic team has even warned Japan and China not to intervene in the currency markets to support the dollar. And these two countries have been two of the key reasons the dollar hasn't fallen farther than it has in the last few years.

For years, Asian central banks have bought hundreds of billions of U.S. Treasuries to keep the dollar strong. All so that U.S. consumers can continue to buy massive amounts of their goods. But it's no longer working.

The U.S. trade deficit is now approaching 6% of GDP. That's nearly triple the 2% level in 1985, the beginning of the last major dollar crash. In short, foreigners can't keep buying U.S. debt indefinitely.

They're already seeing the value of their U.S. Treasuries plummet along with the dollar so they're becoming much less willing to buy any more of them. Even Alan Greenspan has admitted as much. Shortly after the election, he rocked financial markets when he said...

'Given the size of the U.S. current account deficit, a diminished appetite for adding to dollar balances must occur at some point.' - Alan Greenspan,
November 19, 2004

Translation: Foreign central banks can't try to prop up the dollar forever - they have to let it find its own level at some point.

Within 24 hours, other central bankers upped the ante, when they said they're finally prepared to let the dollar fall...

'Officials of the largest global economies, at separate meetings in Berlin and Santiago on Nov. 20 and 21, indicated that they're going to allow the buck to fall for a while as the U.S. seeks to lower its now-infamous 'twin deficits.' - Business Week, November 23, 2004

The biggest dollar crash in a generation is just getting underway. It will continue to make globally priced commodities - like oil, steel, metals and other resources - increasingly expensive in dollar terms. It will hurt the stock market as less capital flows to America and as interest rates eventually rise to try to shore up the falling dollar.

But it doesn't have to be a time for you to lose money.

Instead, you can turn the dollar's fall into an unprecedented profit windfall.

I'll tell you exactly how in a moment. But, first, I should introduce myself...

The Benefits of Being a Sovereign Individual

My name is Erika Nolan. I'm the publisher of The Sovereign Individual, a monthly newsletter focusing on the world's best investment opportunities and asset protection strategies.

For the past seven years, we've been helping over 10,000 subscribers all over the world with their two most important financial goals - making money and protecting their wealth from lawsuits, excessive taxation and bear markets.

Since the onset of the bear market in 2000 and the beginning of the current wave of dollar devaluation in 2002, our services have been valued like never before. We're not only helping our readers avoid the devastation of plunging stocks and a spiraling U.S. dollar... we're actually helping them find some extraordinary gains.

Grab 34% to 225% Even While Most Stocks and the Dollar Head South

Let me give you an idea of how we've been able to show our readers extraordinary gains during some very difficult times in the market in recent years.

In February of 2000, as the stock market was peaking, we warned readers that U.S. stocks couldn't possibly sustain their absurdly overvalued prices. So we recommended shares in a quintet of top gold mining concerns including Agnico Eagle, Barrick Gold, Cambior, Newmont Mining and ASA, Ltd.

Since then, the U.S. market is down but our shares are up big, including...

- 85% gains on Agnico Eagle
- 34% gains on Barrick
- 71% on Cambior
- 117% on Newmont
- And 114% on ASA, Ltd.

In August of 2002, with the stock market still reeling and the U.S. dollar beginning its latest down leg, we thought it was time to pick up some more top-notch gold company shares. The pick gave us two more triple-digit winners, with...

- 123% on Glamis Gold
- And 225% gains to date on Bema gold

At The Sovereign Individual, we also go way beyond mining companies to find the best investment values in the market at any given time. We look for the strongest trends at all times and the investments that are best positioned to profit from those trends.

Case in point...

In April of 2003, we said paper assets would continue to struggle while commodities would continue to boom. The weakening dollar and soaring demand from China and other parts of the world convinced us of it. So we recommended shares of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange - the largest commodities futures trading exchange in the world.

The Chicago Mercantile Exchange, or CME, had just gone public less than six months before. But our timing for putting a buy on the shares proved to be right on the money...

- In the 22 months since our recommendation, CME shares are up 353%!

And the parade continues....

- 105% on Placer Dome in just over two years
- 35% on alcoholic beverage producer Diageo in 20 months

- 47% on the GAM Emerging Markets Multi Fund in just over two years
- 30% from our shares in Warren Buffett's Berkshire Hathaway
- 27% in ten months on the T. Rowe Price New Era Fund
- 100% even in 20 months from the Canadian General Investments Fund
- 91% in 20 months from Dundee Precious Metals
- 193% in 21 months from Copenhagen Airports
- 45% gains from Tweedy Browne Global Value
- And 188% on the Merrill Lynch International Gold & General Fund

Plus, within the last eight months alone, readers had the chance to make the following...

- 27% on the Latin American Fund
- 121% on Goldcorp
- 128% on Harmony Gold
- And 177% on Danish audio and video equipment maker Bang & Olufsen

As you can see, we scour the globe for the best investment opportunities - even when the S&P 500 and NASDAQ

The investment and asset protection advice you receive from The Sovereign Individual comes from professionals working in the world's leading financial centers, including London, Vienna, Dublin, Panama City, Hong Kong, Denmark, the Isle of Man, New York, Montreal, and Geneva, just to name a few. Our experts and the areas they cover include:

On Commodities-based Stocks and Overseas Stock

Markets: Eric Roseman of Montreal's ENR Asset Management has invested in foreign markets and commodities-based stocks on behalf of his high-net-worth clients for the last 15 years. One of Eric's conservative recommendations in The Sovereign Individual was Warren Buffett's Berkshire Hathaway, up 20% in special investments that Wall Street is often overlooking, that are loaded with value and produce the kinds of high-double digit and triple digit returns you've just seen.

What kind of 'special investments?' Well, let me tell you about three of our recommendations that went up directly from the continued fall of the U.S. dollar. And let me begin with the most modest return, a simple investment where you could have made up to 22% just on your 'safe money'...

Get 22% Returns on Your 'Safe Money'

Certificates of Deposit, or CDs, from Grade A banks and financial institutions carry very little risk. Yet the trouble is they also pay very little interest, currently about 1.5% to 2.5% for CDs ranging from three to twelve the last 16 months. One of his more innovative recommendations, meanwhile, The Chicago Mercantile Exchange, is up 403% since he recommended it just 18 months ago in The Sovereign Individual!

On the Best Gold and Precious Metals

Stocks to Own: From San Jose, Costa Rica, Mary Ann and Pamela Aden publish the Aden Forecast, one of the most influential publications on precious metals and mining shares. They're also contributing editors to The Sovereign Individual. Their recommendations of Placer Dome, Newmont Mining and Glamis Gold are up 105%, 117% and 122%, to name just a few of their successful picks in The Sovereign Individual.

On Special Investment Opportunities:

months. But we were able to help Sovereign Individual subscribers do much better...

About 18 months ago, we recommended 3-month CDs from New Zealand. They were yielding about 6% at the time, more than triple the U.S. rate. But because of the appreciation of the New Zealand dollar against the U.S. dollar, subscribers who took our recommendation saw 22% returns in 18 months on their 'safe money!'

And when it comes to investments to profit from the weakening dollar - the ugliest trend in the last 61 years - we don't stop there. In fact, let me tell you how we helped some of our more risk-aggressive subscribers make up to eight and nineteen times their money from the same trend...

Most U.S. investment advisers, publications and programs have a narrow focus on the U.S. markets. That was fine during the bull market. But it's proved disastrous in the bear market, as investors are still down 30% on the S&P 500 and 60% on the NASDAQ.

Yet we've recommended value-rich stocks and mutual funds to our subscribers during the same period that have produced returns of 186%, 202%, 286% and more. But we've even helped them make far larger returns by teaching them how to profit directly from the spiral of the U.S. dollar.

As far back as 2001, we warned readers the dollar was about to begin a new, major downward trend. So we recommended Swiss franc call contributing editor to The Sovereign Individual. In 2003, her model currency trading portfolio produced 401% returns.

On Bonds: Scott Barrie is known as 'the 007 of the Bond World,' cool under pressure and able to find outstanding profits even amid market turmoil. Scott cut his eye teeth trading in the bond pits of Chicago over 20 years ago, he is the author of various Trading Almanacs and he is co-editor of The Money Trader. He is also a contributing editor to The Sovereign Individual. In just the past six months, Scott has been able to show select subscribers how to turn the ups and downs of the bond market into gains of 36% and 120%.

On the Best Global Stocks to Buy Now: Sven Lorenz writes from Berlin. He is the editor of Global Profit Hunter, a trading options. The cost was $1,500 per contract. So if you bought one contract, that was the maximum you could have lost.

We also told readers how to 'roll it forward,' or keep making money on the option by rolling it into a new one as the time limit expired.

Twenty-two months later, our contract was worth $13,450. In other words, if you acted on this recommendation with just a single contract and rolled it forward, your $1,500 would have turned into $13,450 - a gain of 797% in 22 months!

Then we did it again...

Back to the Well, for 1,794% in 10 Months!

In May 2002, a euro was worth just 87 U.S. cents. But huge deficits and a weakening economy in the U.S. indicated the euro was heavily undervalued against service focusing on special trading opportunities in Europe. One of his recommendations, a German railway company that was in the midst of restructuring, shot up 24-fold in four years! Another, China's leading PC maker (traded in the US), soared 1,600%. These are the kind of high-profit overseas investments most American investors never hear of - but which Sven brings to readers of The Sovereign Individual on a regular basis. One European bank he recommended to Sovereign Individual subscribers just one year ago is already up 40%.

On Offshore Real Estate

Opportunities: Lief Simon, global real estate expert based in Paris, on the best property buys from Latin America to Europe (including beachfront property on the Pacific for about 1/10th of what you'd

We recommended readers buy euro call options. The total cost - and total risk - of the contract was $1,125. You could have taken just one contract or as many as you wanted - but either way your risk was limited.

And either way, you would have made a very substantial return on your money...

By March 2003, the euro had risen to almost $1.08. And our options contract was worth $22,437! On an initial investment of $1,125, that works out to...

1,794% gain in 10 months!

And let me make this clear: We were certainly thrilled with our gains, but we never rest on our laurels. We see many similar opportunities arising in 2005 as the downward dollar pay in California, and a program where the French government will pay 20% of your investment in a Mediterranean condo).

On Currency Diversification and Investment

Programs: Thomas Fischer of Denmark's Jyske Bank on how to open a 'dry' offshore account - with no deposit needed right away. It's there ready for you, the moment you need to move assets out of harm's way.

On Getting Solid Returns on Your Safe Money without Dollar Risk: Robert Vrijhof of the Swiss portfolio management firm Weber, Hartmann, Vrijhof & Partners on how to post secure returns outside the dollar.

On Precious Metals and Foreign Exchange Opportunities:

Foreign exchange specialist Michael Checkan on how to take advantage of the trend continues and hard assets and select overseas stock markets continue to rise.

An Opportunity to Make the Next 12 Months The Most Profitable Investment Year of Your Life

All these recommendations appeared in The Sovereign Individual since the U.S. bear market began. But, as I said, these kinds of opportunities have not yet run their course. By inauguration day, we'll see more trading opportunities for triple-digit gains as the dollar continues its 'ugliest trend.'

The dollar remains weighed down by a $7.4 trillion government debt that continues to grow by over $1 billion a day. The U.S. trade deficit is approaching $600 billion a year. It now exceeds 5% of the size of the U.S. economy. According world's first government-guaranteed precious metals storage program.

And that's just a few names from our investment side. On the asset protection side, you'll have the following professionals working for you every single month...

to the Fed, that's historically a reliable indicator of a currency that will continue to plunge.

And, remember, major weakening of the U.S. dollar always coincides with ugly markets - from the bear market of the '30s after FDR devalued... to the '70s after Nixon took the U.S. off the gold standard... to the 35% fall of the dollar preceding the Crash of '87... and the drop of the dollar that has occurred since the onset of the bear market in 2000.

A one-year subscription to The Sovereign Individual is normally $195. But if you respond to this invitation in the next seven days, I'll reduce your subscription fee by nearly half.

For just $99 a year, you'll receive all the benefits

I mentioned above - The Sovereign Individual monthly newsletter, The Sovereign Society Offshore A-Letter daily email update, unlimited access to the subscribers-only section of The Sovereign Individual website... all for just $99.

'The dollar's status as the world's reserve currency... is gradually coming to an end. ' -
The Economist,
November 23, 2004.

What's more, whether you select a one-year or two-year subscription, your satisfaction is always guaranteed. If you're not making bull-market profits even in the midst of a flat or falling U.S. market and a weak dollar ... you may cancel your membership at any time and receive a full refund for the unused portion of your membership.

But I suspect you'll be so pleased with the 'dollar-proof' investment opportunities we have for you in 2005 - the kind of investments that have already produced dozens of triple-digit returns and even gains of up to 1,794% for our subscribers - that you'll want to remain a subscriber to The Sovereign Individual for many years to come.

And don't forget, if you try a risk-free subscription to The Sovereign Individual in the next seven days you'll also receive two FREE special reports: 11 Ways to Turn the Dollar's Fall into a Profit Windfall in 2005 and Secrets of the Inner Sanctum: Your Key to Offshore Banking.

So, please respond today. The debasement of the U.S. dollar is the ugliest and most persistent major financial trend of the last 61 years. Yet it's only getting worse...

At the rate the dollar has been depreciating recently against major commodities and currencies, every dollar you own today could be worth 75 cents a year from now. And, if history is any guide, the overvalued U.S. stock market is likely to follow suit.

But you don't have to suffer that fate. Subscribe to The Sovereign Individual today and you can turn the dollar's fall into a profit windfall with investments that rise even as the dollar falls.

Sincerely,

Erika Nolan, Publisher

The Sovereign Individual

P.S. I forgot to mention that if you take a guaranteed two-year subscription to The Sovereign Individual, I'll also send you a very special 495-page book. It's called Forbidden Knowledge: Information They Don't Want You to Know. It's written by former U.S. Congressman Robert Bauman (R-MD; Legal Counsel to The Sovereign Individual, and Editor of The Sovereign Society Offshore A-Letter). Forbidden Knowledge will introduce you to global investment and asset protection strategies formerly reserved for the world's wealthiest 1%, but now available to you. The book is a $57 value, and the cause of outrage among many big-government bureaucrats. But with your two-year subscription, it's my gift to you - along with your two FREE reports 11 Ways to Turn the Dollar's Fall into a Profit Windfall in 2005 and Secrets of the Inner Sanctum: Your Key to Offshore Banking. order within the next seven days to send you these free gifts, so please subscribe today.
