

FOUND: Enough Oil To Last 400 Years... Right in Our Backyard

Jump in now while it's still a secret...

- ♦ Forget tiptoeing around brutal Middle Eastern regimes
- ♦ Forget cutting oil deals with Iranian nuclear maniacs
- ♦ Forget wimpy unrealistic “alternative” energies
- ♦ Forget paying $2.25 per gallon for gas
- ♦ Forget $55 barrels of oil...

Overnight, this dirty, unglamorous oil field became the 2nd largest oil deposit in the world. The supply is VERY safe... it's right here in North America...and you can jump in before everyone else...and take up to 668% gains.

Dear Reader,

A revolutionary shift in the global energy game has just taken place.

It could make you very rich...by as much as eight times every dollar invested...and it could put an end to oil-backed terrorism for the next 400 years...without another shot being fired or bomb being dropped.

I'd better explain.

See...quietly and practically overnight...our own oil supply here in North America just grew from 5% of the world total to an incredible 18% of the total.

Suddenly we have enough new oil to last another four centuries at current rates of usage. And here's the best part...the oil awaits us. Here and now, right in our very own backyard.

Not a drop of it belongs to OPEC or the oil-backed terrorists.

How rich an opportunity is this? So far, on one stock I'll tell you about, a handful of smart investors have already started getting rich. That includes T. Boone Pickens, the Texas oil maven worth $760 million, who recently told Bloomberg News this stock was his "number one pick."

I'll show you, in just a second, how to get into this same investment...and how to make as much as 668% returns...by sending you a special FREE report on this opportunity, part of a whole FREE LIBRARY of six investment reports I want you to have. They're yours for the asking. But before I show you how to send for them, let me show you why this incredible tectonic shift in the energy market is something even bigger.

Because what I'm about to show ALSO means we can cut off all dealings with the monsters of the Middle East. It means we're no longer a hostage to OPEC. It means we can keep on leading the world economy...and living the American way of life...without running out of the juice that makes it happen.

This revolutionizes our economy.

It changes our political future. It reinvents America's place in history.

It's that dramatic.

And yet, just a few weeks ago, nobody even knew this earthshaking shift could happen...simply because it involves some boring, tarry, viscous sandpits in the wilds of North America...

The Secret to America's Energy Security Sleeps in Our Backyard

Remember when the Berlin Wall crumbled and we finally won the Cold War?

The feeling of sheer jubilation, hard-earned victory, and uplifting relief that our enemies could no longer threaten us? Imagine if we could have that same feeling now, in the fight against terror.

It was economics that finally brought down the Berlin Wall. And it's economics that will help us with this fight too. Without a single bomb or diplomat. And the results will taste just as sweet as our Cold War victory.

Put simply...if we can get all the oil we need from somewhere else...we can pull out of the Middle East entirely...and let the monster devour itself.

But how? Let me ask you this...

Where can you find oil reserves so large that...

- There's already more underground than in all of Saudi Arabia...
- There's more there to tap than in Iraq, Iran, and Libya combined...
- There's even more oil than in Nigeria, Russia, United Arab Emirates, Kuwait, and China all put together?

In some new field in the blood-drenched Middle East? Wrong!

In the Alaskan oilfields? Wrong again.

This great reserve is called the Athabasca oil sands, tucked away in the wilderness in the province of Alberta. Now, if you know anything about oil, I know what you're thinking...

That oil is too hard to get out. It isn't going to happen. A week ago, I would have said you're right. But suddenly, that's changed too. And that's why a handful of investors quick enough to move on this are going to get very rich.

According to the Islamic extremists, the “just price” for a barrel of oil is $144. By their calculations, America's “huge theft” totals up to $36 trillion. They're wrong, of course.

But that won't stop them from trying to make America pay, one way or another. We now get nearly half our oil from the Middle East. That makes petroleum the next natural target. Energy prices will skyrocket again. Before they do, position yourself for security AND profits. Let me send you my FREE “TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY.”

Please read on...

300 Billion Barrels of Black Gold... 7,000 Miles From the Middle East

First, I want you to please imagine what I'm suggesting...

Imagine an America free of the Islamic fundamentalist scourge...no invisible threats of bioterror or chemical attacks...no suicide bombings at the local shopping mall...no terrorists flooding over the Mexican border...

No dirty bomb smuggled into an American port city...no maniacs trying to crash airplanes into landmarks...no Westerners getting kidnapped in Iraq...not a single American serviceman in the Middle East...and age free of threat and open to prosperity.

Not because our enemies aren't still out there. But because their motives - and their money - have all dried up.

See, during the first Gulf War, we came over to Saudi Arabia and planted military bases to protect our vital energy interests and our way of life. What we didn't count on was what happened next.

In Saudi Arabia, formerly the country with the most oil in the world, hundreds of billionaire princes live in stunning luxury...while the vast majority of the population barely scrapes by.

The princes ship in whiskey and women, laughing in the face of Islam. They rule the people with a tyrannical, unforgiving grip. But because it's America that pays for the oil...and American soldiers on the bases...it's the Americans that fundamentalists blame for all the excesses. (Let's not forget...15 of the 19 madmen on September 11th were Saudi-born.)

But in a Dark-Age society...where the only way a woman can escape near-slavery is to become a martyr...to blow herself up...what's the connection to oil?

Bin Laden and the so-called "Right Price of Oil"

In an interview in the book Bin Laden, Al Jazeera and I, Osama said: "A barrel of oil should cost $144. By these calculations, Americans have stolen $36 trillion from Muslims. They owe each member of the faith $30,000."

The bottom line: At the grassroots, poverty-stricken level that 95% of Saudis (and other Middle Easterners) live in, that's a compelling "reason" to fight America and take control over Saudi oil supplies.

Dick Cheney Knows A

And, Bin Laden and his discontented minions would not hesitate to try to overthrow the Saudi Royal family. They don't like that the princes are allies with America. And they don't like the debauchery such massive riches have brought to the royal family. And they don't like living in disastrous poverty when they live on trillions of dollars worth of oil.

So what happens if Bin Laden and his army overthrow the Saudi Royal family?

It's pretty safe to say that the pipelines and tankers to America would be cut off...and, although drastic, this scenario isn't far-fetched. Suicide bombers have repeatedly struck Western compounds in Riyadh and Jeddah. These attacks are one step away from being a strike on the royal family...and the family now lives in a complete panic.

We can't coddle the evil Saudi regime any more.

Or the other Middle Eastern regimes. Luckily, we don't have to...

The Great Realignment: A Peaceful Victory Over Hatred

Here's what's changed...

Even though the Indians boiled the tarry sands in Alberta to make a goop that could patch their canoes hundreds of years ago...even though the Canadians discovered this huge patch of oil in 1967...

This gargantuan reserve didn't technically exist until very

In 1973, gas prices shot up from 25 cents a gallon to over a dollar. It took

But now...it does. Again, I should explain.

You see, this isn't your usual oil reserve. If you went to Alberta, you'd be shocked by what you WON'T see. For instance, there are no oil derricks.

Instead, all this precious oil - every drop - is trapped in clay, sand, and water. Until about 2 years ago, it was prohibitively expensive to separate the oil from the wet sandy stuff that it's mixed with.

But then, three things happened.

First, the price of oil went up. When the price goes up, even expensive oil is profitable to recover. At over $50 a barrel, oil sands deposits are already suddenly extremely attractive.

Second, the cost of pulling the oil out of the sand went down...new technology has cut the cost of extracting the oil to barely a third of what it used to cost.

But here's the biggest and most important difference...

And it's the one most investors, so far, know absolutely zero about...

The Alberta Energy and Utilities Board released a new analysis - with the technology and change in petroleum pricing dynamics factored in - and estimated over 315 billion barrels of oil are recoverable from the tar sands deposit.

This doesn't mean anything to you until you realize Saudi Arabia, formerly the biggest holder of world oil deposits, only has an estimated 259 billion barrels still in the ground.

Oil Sands Profit Margins Shoot Up 337.5%

The World's Running Out of Oil? Bah!

"Oil sands developments in Canada should put to rest the absurd but still oft-voiced concern that the world is about to run out of oil."

-The Economist

About 20% of the oil sands wait right beneath the topsoil.

The remaining 80% lies further beneath the surface.

The shallow oil sands can be harvested with open pit mining techniques. The largest shovels in the world work with trucks bigger than houses, which carry the oil sands to refineries. Recent improvements in the trucks (they can carry 320 tons in each load!) and improvements in the digging techniques have driven the cost of this pit mining way down.

The deeper oil sands have also seen mining process improvements. The miners drill 2 parallel horizontal wells and pump steam into the top one. The steam separates the sandy clay from the oil and gravity forces the oil into the lower well, where it is pumped out.

And so, the production cost of oil sands oil has shot down from $35 to $8 since the mid nineties. And in today's era of over $50 oil, that margin is fantastic!

Obviously, that production cost will yield a great profit margin when oil prices fall, as well.

But exactly how big are the Athabasca oil sands?

Picture A Sponge Bigger Than Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana Combined... Filled with Oil!

The oils sands are a massive 26,000 square miles. And hold, as I just said, an estimated 315 billion barrels of recoverable reserves, according to the new findings by the Alberta Energy and Utilities Board.

But wait. Because it gets better...

See, beyond the oil that's currently recoverable there's a lot more in the ground that could be recoverable with new technologies over the months and years ahead.

How much extra oil, right here in our backyard? A mind-boggling total of 2.5 trillion barrels of oil sands in Athabasca. 2.5 trillion!

The way recovery technology progresses...and the way high oil prices now fund oil exploration in the future...we should tap those massive reserves steadily over the coming decades.

Until then, we'll be very happy with that 300 billion barrels, thanks very much.

So what does this new oil flood mean for the old guard of oil producers?

Well let's take a look...

- Iran - hostage-taking nuclear mullahs.
- Iraq - enough said.
- Libya - plane bombers, attempted assassination of Saudi Prince Bandar.
- Saudi Arabia - hornet's nest of extremism ruled by dishonest, greedy princes.
- Kuwait, Qatar, and the United Arab Emirates - backwards, medieval societies with extremist leanings.
- Nigeria - nationwide oil worker strikes.
- Algeria - nursery for European extremism.

Yes, these folks would make quite a dinner party. Thugs, dirtbags and tyrants.

But, to mix a metaphor, this discovery yanks the petroleum playing card right out from under their feet. Meanwhile...you get rich. And I'm going to show you how.

How To Make 137%, 184%, 304%...

I haven't even told you who I am.

My name is Addison Wiggin.

I'm the publisher of Outstanding Investments, a serious investment advisory that has covered the oil and energy industry for over a decade. If there's one thing I've learned it's that it's moments like these that can build enormous fortunes.

That's why I am writing to you so urgently today.

Just over the last three years, readers of Outstanding Investments, my resource advisory letter, have had the opportunity to cash in on gains like 184% on PetroChina...137% on KeyWest Energy...and 158% on Tocqueville Gold...

And in our trading service, we also picked up big gains like 96% on EOG Resources...136% on RJ Reynolds...162% on Intrepid Materials...125% on coffee...332% on Glamis Gold...263% on Coeur d'Alene Mines...another 270% on silver...and plenty more.

I don't mind telling you that's a breathtaking record.

But I also want to show you how we've lined up a lot more gains on this fundamental energy breakthrough. I want to start by sending you immediately a FREE copy of my newest investment report, "Crude Awakening: How to Survive the Total Global Energy Crunch of 2006."

In fact, I want to send you a whole library of SIX FREE INVESTING REPORTS. Yours for the taking. Each outlining huge opportunities in and around the energy development we've already been talking about.

Let me just give you a glimpse of what you can expect to find inside the reports...

The Richest Oil Stock In North America (It could shoot up 1,000% in 6 months)

It's the richest oil deposit in the world. No, it's not in the Middle East. I'm talking about the Athabasca Oil Sands near Alberta, Canada.

You see, this deposit covers a total area of 26,000 square miles - and contains more than 300 billion (yes, billion) barrels of oil.

That's 10 times larger than the largest estimated deposit in Alaska...more oil than in Saudi Arabia...in fact, enough petroleum to satisfy world energy demand for the next 15 years...

Tapping this resource is just getting started. But it's about to make a few shrewd investors incredibly rich. How?

In 1984, it cost more than $35 to squeeze each barrel of oil from Alberta's Oil Sands. Current extraction costs have plunged below $11 a barrel. They're falling rapidly toward $8 a barrel. Technology for oil sand extraction is catching up.

Already, 20% of Canada's oil production comes from these deposits. The trucks that collect the stuff are bigger than houses. The shovels that fill those trucks are the biggest in the world.

Canada's Quick Rise to #1 in Oil Reserves

"We have known about the oil sands for a while. We decided to incorporate them now because we recognize that they are economically viable."

-Marilyn Radler, economics editor for the Oil and Gas Journal

I have a pure oil sands stock play for you - a company that pioneered the industry back in 1967 and now has more than $11.3 billion in assets and over 4,000 employees.

Company revenue was up 58% in 2003...and net earnings growth for 2003 hit 59%...Try getting that from Dow stocks!

Find out more - send for my FREE "TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY" and read the new special report, "Security and Profits: The Richest Oil Opportunity in America."

Before the first plane even hit Tower One in New York, U.S. flags were already burning in the streets of Baghdad and Palestine. Iran already had its own terrorist training camps. And in Saudi Arabia, the 5,000 princes of the America-friendly royal family were under fire. After the wave of terror began, extremists celebrated in the streets.

Nobody is sure how much oil money makes its way into terrorists' pockets. But we do know that depending on OPEC in the future - financially as well as politically - means danger. Just consider:

- Two of OPEC's 11 countries have socialist governments...
- Five are run by dictators or former terrorists...
- Six have had some sort of civil unrest in the last 10 years...

But altogether, they sit on 78% of the world's oil supply. The very lifeblood of civilization itself...no presidential speeches or massive military action can change that.

We can, however, protect ourselves. The Middle East has tipped toward catastrophe. But there ARE resource options outside the Middle East. As the West flocks to them for security, you'll make a fortune. Please read on to learn how to get my "TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY" that will show you what to do.

Calgary's next explosive energy stock: A target profit of 300% by 2006?

This little-known emerging oil producer has a lock on drilling sites in the Western Canadian Sedimentary Basin. Which is a special advantage right now, given that - unlike the Middle East - places like the Basin are politically ultra-safe and relatively undeveloped.

If I'm right about this one - and I'm confident I am - shareholders could pile up at least 300% profits within the next two years, possibly three. And that's EVEN IF energy prices stay at these same levels.

Read the whole story in another of the FREE reports in the "TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY." This bonus gift is called "Security and Profits: The Richest Oil Opportunity in America." Again, this is just one of the six FREE investing reports I want to send you. Just accept our special invitation to let me know you're interested. But before I do, let me tell you about another golden opportunity I don't want you to miss...

The next mad dash for natural gas

Somewhere in a tiny North American town, a single stoplight blinks. Sled dogs bark. The northernmost road in North America trails off into the frozen tundra...

This is the Mackenzie River Valley. Cold. Desolate. And soon to be one of the richest outposts in the Western Hemisphere.

You see, Canada is in the process of tripling its natural gas exports to the United States. While U.S. oil fields were dying all through the '90s, Canada doubled their natural gas exports. Experts predict Canada will outgrow U.S. gas exports by 50% within this decade.

Once again, Canada steps up to fill American energy needs.

Just as big a story as oil, maybe bigger, is the money you can make on natural gas. Natural gas stocks soared when investors discovered stored natural gas was at a six-year low, meaning it would be tough to make it through a cold winter.

But just because it isn't front-page news today doesn't mean the problem has been solved. Some 55 million American houses use natural gas for heat. They're still paying as much as 72% more for gas than they did three years ago.

Natural gas producers are working at full capacity too. But production is barely pacing demand. What's more, unlike oil, gas is not transported cheaply. It's not stored easily either. And there are no strategic reserves! Companies are scrambling to finish the pipelines to places like the Mackenzie Valley. It's a lot like the race to build the first railroad to California in the 1800s.

Outstanding Investments readers are already prepared to make big money on natural gas. And there's a lot more to be made...

EOG Resources, for instance, is one of the most active drillers in the United States. They average a hefty 975 million cubic feet per day. The gas is there. And EOG is going to make a fortune selling into the scramble to get it.

Outstanding Investments readers were able to buy EOG when you couldn't give it away on Wall Street. And our members had the opportunity to make gains of 96% on that play alone! (And we posted another 224% with a second oil and gas company, Niko Resources.) As I said, we're looking to make a whole lot more on natural gas.

90% of U.S. utility companies burn natural gas to make electricity!

After a massive spike, natural gas prices have eased off. But I'm not worried. Because natural gas isn't just for heating anymore.

The impact the Internet alone has on the world power grid is phenomenal. Up until recently, a lot of people had no idea where the extra juice was going to come from.

Enter our favorite oil and gas company, located right up here in nearby Alberta. It's poised to benefit from not only the natural gas boom, but also from the company's completed mega-merger.

"Great job: 140% and 64% gains!"

"[With Tocqueville Gold] I posted 140% gain - great pick!... 'Only' 64% [with Northgate] - another winner... Great job!"

-Charles B., Outstanding Investments Member

It's now the largest pure exploration and production company in North America, producing over 650,000 barrels of oil equivalent per day (boepd)...a number that is expected to rise to 1.1 million boepd by 2005. That would make it the seventh-largest Canadian company overall, and its gas storage capacity is also the largest in North America.

No fewer than seven energy market analysts have awarded this company strong buy recommendations. Not one institution has it listed as a sell.

In your FREE "TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY," I have two more bonus gifts that will help you crack the seal on opportunities just like this one. One is called "My No Sweat Strategy for Profiting From the Coming Oil & Gas Boom." Inside, you'll read all about two incredible opportunities to strike it rich as these North American energy producers show the rest of the world that we don't HAVE to depend on Middle East oil to thrive in the years ahead...Plus a third company leading the industry in getting to that gas.

And a few smart investors are going to get very rich in the process!

I'll show you how in this report. And I'll rush you a copy.

Plus, there's another opportunity I don't want you to miss. Liquid natural gas could be THE energy story for the next 10 years. Get in early and you could make as much as double...even triple...every dollar invested now . I've put all the details in another special report called "Riding the Liquid Natural Gas Boom to Triple Your Money."

You can get your FREE copies of both of these two special reports, along with your other FREE reports, just as soon as you let me know you're going to accept our special invitation.

Look, my point here is simple. This is not a time to bury your head in the sand. Decisions must be made.

I can say that with confidence. Because I've literally spent a lifetime in this industry. I've never seen a crisis like this one. But I've rarely seen a more sure path to profits than this, either. This is a critical moment in history. And a critical opportunity! I'd hate to see you miss out.

Which is why I'm inviting you to join me. I'm extending a very special invitation, especially for you. And I think it's an invitation you're going to like very much...

Because you're among the few who understand...

I believe that you're like me. You understand the cyclical ebb and flow of markets. And you know there are tides of hope and fear crashing all around us. But in times like these, you know as I do that it's also easiest to make money...a lot of money...when you're riding the tide in the right direction!

Right now, that means only one thing. It is time for you to move more aggressively into natural resource investments - not just oil, but gas, water, gold and silver. Mix in juniors and blue chips, along with bonds, mutual funds, T-bills and cash for a cushion.

As storm clouds gather, be flexible. Move more of your assets into safe shelter. The smart money is pouring into the very investments civilization will need to reinvent itself for the years ahead. Oil. Gas. Coal. Palladium. Even cement, water and gold. Yes, gold.

Even precious metals are making a comeback

Gold has skyrocketed and then pulled back slightly. But gold isn't a short-term trade. Fact is, in times of real crisis, gold is STILL the ultimate safe haven.

I know this is heresy to some.

Especially to 30-year-old fund managers who have never lived through a drawn-out real war...or any real crisis at all. But directly or indirectly - in a time of volatility - precious metals should make up at least 5% to 10% of your portfolio.

Half to two-thirds of your precious metal holdings should be in gold stocks. And the rest in bullion. There are also some North American-based mining companies you can't afford to ignore right now.

After the Sept. 11 attacks, bullion prices shot up from $270 to $290. Over the last 12 months, it shot over $390. More recently we've seen gold for over $430. With huge injections of liquidity headed our way from the Fed, the U.S. Treasury and other central banks, longer-term gold will benefit too.

In your FREE "TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY" I'm going to give you another special investing report, called "Make 500% on the Great Money Flood." I want you to study it closely. Consider it an insurance policy against calamity.

And gold isn't the only "calamity-proof" metal I'm tracking. In fact, gold's homely cousin, silver, is also on its way to becoming a belle of the ball.

Much like gold, silver tends to soar during periods of both extreme deflation (the 1930s) and extreme inflation. But the supply-demand situation for silver is much, much tighter.

Annual demand for the white metal has outpaced new silver supply for over 12 years... in some cases by huge margins of 100 million ounces. Even with the recession, demand is outpacing new mine supplies by an incredible 175%.

Until recently, the aboveground supply made up the difference between new mine supply and demand. But it's quickly running out. Industry requires about 900 million ounces of silver each year - and mining and recycling can't keep up.

That means profits for silver miners are about to go through the roof. Just one problem - silver occurs in ores along with gold, copper, lead, zinc and other metals. For most companies, silver is just a byproduct of mining these other metals. You can't buy them and expect to participate directly in a silver rally.

"You are the expert"

"Commodities sound like the way to invest at this time, and it seems you are the expert."

-Patricia L.,
Outstanding Investments Member

However, there are a smattering of silver mining companies that offer a direct way to participate in the upcoming silver market. And I've found the cream of the crop. It's sitting on two of the largest operating silver mines in the country, with over 83.4

million ounces waiting underground. And its production numbers just keep going through the roof.

I'd like you to learn all about this fantastic company when you join Outstanding Investments. And that's just one of the lucrative metals play we're covering for our members. Learn about these other opportunities in silver, gold and copper in another FREE report, "Two $5 Resource Stocks That Will Take Off in Uncertain Times."

These reports will show you how to limit the downside in any metals investments...while maximizing the upside. And right now, the upside potential in metals is extremely good - better than it's been in a long time.

However, you'll have to act fast. Demand for gold coins, for example, is flying. Prices for other hard assets, like collectibles, are up too.

My point is real assets represent real wealth. Tangible wealth. That's why Outstanding Investments helps you follow explosive profit opportunities in resource markets. Because I don't believe you want to invest in empty 'hot stock' stories...or rolls of the dice.

Instead, we'll look only for the investments that make you money. Real trends, in real assets, that have real substance. With real research and very real, proven profitability behind everything Outstanding Investments recommends. Think of it this way...

When stocks tank and energy takes off, only resource investors get rich

In the 1970s - during the Yom Kippur War and the OPEC Oil Shock that followed - if you held the most popular blue chip stocks of the day, you lost a lot of money...

General Electric dropped 54% from its high. And didn't recover for another 9.5 years.

Kodak fell just under 60% and didn't recover for another 14.5 years. Xerox dropped 64% and stayed down for over 23 years. Avon dropped 79% and didn't recover for another 24 years. Polaroid is STILL down - and declared bankruptcy not too long ago.

McDonald's, down 59%...Coca-Cola, down 68%...Disney, nearly 84%. Investors had to wait almost a decade...in some cases longer...to get back to break-even.

But if you owned shares in the popular oil majors and junior oil stocks, you made a fortune.

During the '70s, Exxon's price doubled and then doubled again. Amoco, Mobil and BP also rose by a factor of four over the decade.

Junior stocks shot up even higher, with some companies locking in gains of over 1,000% for investors who were shrewd enough to get out of blue chips and into big profits.

At the very least, it's a hedge against stocks that fall when energy prices go up. And against rising inflation. But in a shortage crisis like the one ahead, you can do much more than just hedge...

You still have time to protect yourself...Triple or quadruple your money
during the crisis
ahead

Oil is just one obvious example. There's a whole world of wealth opportunities out there that most investors are missing right now. But they're just now starting to wake up to this fact, so you'll have to hurry to get in.

What I've shown you in this report is just a tiny sample. I want to invite you to join us for more. I want to invite you to subscribe to Outstanding Investments.

Nothing, in my opinion, could be a smarter move on behalf of your investment portfolio. Not just right now. But for the months and years ahead...

The single secret behind the world's greatest fortunes

No matter how you slice it, history's greatest fortunes have all been made in one way:

By investing in real assets in times when real assets were scarce and in high demand.

Where's the proof? All around us. Two journalists - Michael Klepper and Robert Gunther - put together an interesting book recently, The Wealthy 100. The book lists history's wealthiest people and asks how each made money.

John Rockefeller - with a fortune in 1937 as good as having $212 billion today - beats even Bill Gates as the richest man in history.

What Rockefeller did was start Standard Oil, the massive petroleum monopoly that controlled a mind-blowing 90% of the world's oil business.

Then there's Andrew Carnegie - worth $112 billion. Carnegie did it all with steel.

Frederick Weyerhaeuser made the equivalent of $48 billion in 1914 with real estate. Andrew Mellon and his brother Richard each made about $36 billion selling hard assets into the Industrial Revolution. I think you see the point...

Where billionaires invest their billions

Stock manias come and go. But resource wealth lasts. And right now, some very smart - and very rich - investors are making the most of this wealth secret all over again.

If these mega-rich investors are right - and if I'm right about the facts I just shared - you will do very well in the coming months indeed...on investments that could even double or triple your money over the next 12-24 months. In fact, over the long term, some of these stocks might return even 10 TIMES your money. And I would like your permission to show you how...

and stayed with it. I'm up 28% with only your recommendations*

resource investment opportunities you can find anywhere. At least weekly, I'll send you special bulletins from the nerve center here in Calgary, today's heart of the oil industry outside of Saudi Arabia.

You'll also have a private number for the telephone hotline. We update it weekly, so you can have all the fresh news...fresh advice...and the absolute security you need. And because we know how important this information is to you, we also e-mail the hotline to you. You'll know with each hotline that I'm watching your investments closely...making sure you can make a move at a moment's notice, should you have to.

If you're online, you'll also have unlimited private access to the Outstanding Investments online archive, where you can pick up back issues of the monthly letter and hotlines - along with other benefits. We'll send you the username and password the moment you say you're ready to get started with your subscription.

And I'll immediately rush you my "TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY" - with up to six FREE bonus reports - the moment you subscribe. You'll have plenty of time to look everything over.

In fact, for a full 30 days, you can dig into all the materials, track my investment recommendations, tour the Web site archives, absorb the advice in the issues...

And if you STILL aren't sure you want to continue, no problem at all. You can cancel and not be charged a dime. If you've already paid, I'll send back every penny. And you can keep the full "TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY" as my gift, just for giving Outstanding Investments a try. No questions asked. It couldn't be easier...

Simply drop a line to Greg Grillot

There's no catch. No hidden agreement here. This total-satisfaction guarantee is ironclad. I give my word on it personally.

If - for any reason whatsoever - you decide to change your mind on Outstanding Investments ...you only need to drop a line to my associate publisher, Greg Grillot.

I'll give you the number to call. Plus, if you'd rather, a mailing address. I'm serious about guaranteeing your satisfaction, because it's important to me that you feel confident enough to act on the advice I want you to have.

And I want you to feel confident enough to act on it quickly as well. Because there's no better time than right now to get in on these explosive moneymaking opportunities. Do yourself this favor. Give Outstanding Investments' no-risk offer a try. Getting started is easy...

An offer I hope you can't refuse

Greg usually asks me to charge $318 for two years of Outstanding Investments . But I've told him flat out that I don't want my readers to have to pay that much.

Instead, I told Greg wanted to give you all six reports...the unlimited Web site access...the weekly hotline and the alerts...and 24 months of Outstanding Investments...at a special discounted price of just $189.

That's a 41% break on the published price. Doesn't that sound like a better deal?

I hope you think so. But of course, it's up to you to decide. Or if you'd rather get Outstanding Investments for one year (that's 12 issues) plus the Web site, the hotline and three of our six special reports...you're welcome to sign on for just $99 (a discount on the one year price of 38%).

Either way, both invitations are covered by the full, no-risk guarantee I just told you about. Try everything for 30 days to see if you like it. If not, you can get your money back. It's that simple.

I'm confident you'll like what you see. And I know you'll never find another financial service this direct...this close to the heart of such an explosive opportunity...or this "locked" into profits in the crisis ahead.

So let me hear from you soon. I promise you'll be glad you did!

Yours for security and profits,

Addison Wiggin
Publisher, Outstanding Investments

P.S. Remember what I told you earlier in this special report. With big-name stocks in trouble...and the world headed for more turmoil...it's important you see how this new world of opportunity is going to open up. Which is why I'd like to give you one MORE special gift report with your FREE "TERROR-PROOF PROFITS LIBRARY."

It's called "A Secret World of Wealth-Building: Grow Rich With Natural Resources." Learn about the booming market that Wall Street is overlooking and how you can earn big profits in this sector. As with the other reports, there's no extra charge. It's a gift. Yours FREE via e-mail. Just for giving my risk-free invitation a try.

Let me be clear. Some of these are slow-growing opportunities, offering steady returns of 20%, 40% or 70%. Others could skyrocket 250% or better in the months ahead. I'll show you how to accumulate a mix of both. But the time to act is immediately. Click below to subscribe today!
